Elks Allenmore Public Golf Course and Bench Craft Company Announcing Business Partnership

The Elks Allenmore Public GC is excited to announce its partnership with Bench Craft Company which will be creating a custom-designed course guide/yardage book for the golf course. These pocket-sized books will be distributed to men's club members and guests during tournaments and/or special events, and used as marketing and branding collateral for the Golf and Event Center. Bench Craft Company will also be providing benches, ball washers, and score cards with space for advertising. Elks Allenmore, Inc. will also be offering advertising space on the 18 stone tee markers with the proceeds from these sales going directly to support the golf course and lodge.

Because the benches, ball washers, score cards, and book are built or printed using funds strictly from advertisements, there are a limited number of advertising opportunities. We would like to offer our Elk's Club and Men's Club members the first right of refusal with this opportunity. As we know, the course advertisements will get a lot of views with the number of rounds being played. Also remember, that golfers tend to keep the course guides and not discard them, so it would ensure that your business name would be seen for a long time.

If you are interested in participating, please forward this email to Jim Kraft at jim.krafty@gmail.com by Monday, May 1, 2017 and include your contact information. We will handle the tee marker advertisements directly and for all the other advertising we will forward your email to Bench Craft Company, which will contact you with the details.

Remember there are limited advertising spaces and we anticipate these spaces will sell quickly. Don't wait and lose this excellent opportunity! Thanks for your continued support!
